

Financial Company Expands into Online Gambling Industry

Tuesday, 29 April 2008

One of the world's most recognized financial services companies, Cantor Fitzgerald has launched its first online casino, on the back of its white label B2B offering. Cantor Casino is already up and running and promises to provide players with endless entertainment through innovative games and low house edges. The manager of Cantor Gaming, Manu Gambhir said: "As a company that has always been associated with innovation and has had a deep experience in operating mission-critical systems that can process tremendous volumes of transactions, stepping into online gaming is a logical step for Cantor. But it's not about being the biggest; it's about being the best. We're confident that our customers will find the new advanced betting games as well as our traditional casino games perfect for their needs and tastes." Players can enjoy excellent promotions, regular new game releases and next-day cash outs among the many benefits offered by Cantor Casino.
